

Our product is harvested directly from the crystal clear waters of Chilean Patagonia. We respect the natural cultivation process of our mussels, which is why they are packaged and cooked the same day they are harvested. We do not allow additives or preservation methods. We are firmly dedicated to supplying healthy, high-quality seafood. All of our products are approved by certified sources that guarantee our commitment to protecting our natural resources. For years we have been developing long-term relationships with our clients, collaborating with them in every way possible to grow their business.

We are approved by certifying houses that guarantee our commitment with our natural resources.

PACIFIC GOLD

Mussels from Patagonia

Chile

OUR MUSSELS ARE COMPLETELY NATURAL, HANDPICKED AND CAREFULLY CRAFTED, FROM THE OCEAN WATERS TO YOUR TABLE.

We are a company located in Chilean Patagonia with more than 20 years of experience in the cultivation and production of mussels. The cold waters of Chilean Patagonia give our mussels a unique and differential quality that makes our product one of the best mussels in the world. Our experience allows us to cover the entire process, from farms to market, we are able to know and be part of every step of the process, providing a personalized service to our customers and ensuring high quality food safety standards. We started in 1996 with rope-grown farms and currently manage a 50,000 square meter processing plant from where we produce and export the best Chilean mussels.

Mussels are a nutritional powerhouse, packed with essential nutrients, promoting heart health, boosting energy levels, and supporting overall well-being.
